

Early Career Teacher Induction at Vantage Teaching School Hub

We provide two Early Career services at Vantage Teaching School Hub. These are the Vantage Appropriate Body and as a Delivery Partner for the Early Career Training Programme with Teach First ECTs have to be both registered with an Appropriate Body and enrolled on an Early Career Training Programme. So what is the difference & what does it mean for schools?

Appropriate Body	Delivery Partner for Training
------------------	-------------------------------

What is it? The Appropriate Body is responsible for quality assurance of statutory induction within schools; in addition to overseeing the assessment of all ECTs	What is it? The Delivery Partner is responsible for providing a DfE accredited training programme to ECTs and mentors, ensuring the appropriate knowledge of the Initial Training Early Career Framework (ITTECF) is developed
How does it impact schools? All ECT progress reviews and end of year assessments are submitted to the Appropriate Body via ECT Manager for Quality Assurance & ratification of school assessment against the Teachers' Standards. Vantage supports the role of Induction Tutors	How does it impact schools? As a Delivery Partner for Teach First, Vantage TSH delivers high quality in-person training to ECTs and mentors, which supports their learning on the Brightspace platform. Vantage reports on the engagement of ECTs and mentors. Vantage supports the role of Induction Tutors
What else do I need to know? All ECTs must be registered with an Appropriate Body as soon as they are appointed to start their statutory induction. Vantage AB visits a sample of schools every year for quality assurance checks	What else do I need to know? It is a statutory entitlement for ECTs and mentors to receive Early Career Training: working with a Delivery Partner is the only fully funded route for schools to do this

Who do I contact?

Nicola Tennison is the Appropriate Body Lead at Vantage Teaching School Hub:

ntennison@smchull.org

Andrea Tonks is the Early Career Training Lead at Vantage Teaching School Hub:

teachingschoolhub@smchull.org